Golden Trowel Awards

Our Purpose

The Texas Masonry Council (TMC) sponsors the Golden Trowel Award Competition annually in conjunction with the Statewide Convention. Quality masonry projects in Texas are the result of strong creative vision and skilled execution—a timeless relationship between Architect and Mason. The purpose of the Golden Trowel Award is to recognize the outstanding design of Architects and the skilled craftsmanship of the Mason Contractors, while celebrating the legacy of their partnership.

Cornerstone Christian School (San Antonio)

Rudd & Adams Masonry took home the 2019 People's Choice Award during the live polling Golden Trowel Awards celebration in 2019.

Join the Legacy

Each year the TMC celebrates architects, mason contractors, general contractors, manufacturers, and suppliers with Golden Trowel Awards to honor their important role in completing a successful project.

Now more than ever it is critical for the masonry industry to maintain and create new partnerships within the design and construction industry. Not only does the Golden Trowel Award celebrate the architects and contractors that our members work with on a daily basis, but TMC also recognizes the critical role that state and local officials, and the communities play in developing quality, lasting masonry construction. This year, TMC will be giving recognition and awards to the local school districts, schools, and outstanding teachers who are facilitating successful careers in masonry and on-the-job training for our industry's future workforce.

Eligibility Requirements

All Golden Trowel Nominations must meet the following requirements to be considered complete and eligible for judging.

- Any project completed three (3) years prior to the local competition is eligible to be entered.
- Brick, block, stone and/or any other masonry product must be the dominant building material.
- A TMC masonry contractor must have completed the work on the project.
- Projects may only be entered twice over a two-year period.
- A project can only be submitted into one category and in one regional chapter within the same year.
- Only projects within the State of Texas may be eligible.
- Projects must be designed by an architect or engineer with the exception of Residential (single-family), Hardscape/Landscape or Restoration categories.
- Architects may not submit their projects directly. Any masonry association member, on behalf of an architect, may submit a project for the first level of competition, subject to observance of local association rules. Architects who have projects outside local chapter regions may submit directly to the closest local chapter as long as they join that association.

Regional Association / Affiliation

Entries must first be submitted into one of the following associations regional competition: Houston-Associated Masonry Contractors of Houston, Dallas/Ft. Worth-United Masonry Contractors Association, Austin/Central Texas-Central Texas Masonry Contractors Association, San Antonio/South Texas-San Antonio Masonry Contractors Association

If a masonry contractor is located outside of the four major regions, and is not affiliated with any of the above-listed chapters, the applicant may submit a project directly to the TMC to compete in a 5th category for non-affiliated TMC members. Submissions will be judged according to the rules and procedures herewith.

Good Standing

Winning contractors from each category at the regional level will proceed to the TMC state level competition. Winners at the regional level must be members in good standing with TMC by June 1 of the competition year. In the event that a regional contractor is not a member of TMC by June 1, the honorable mention project at the regional level will be submitted provided they are members of TMC by June 1 of the competition year. If the winner or honorable mention contractors at the regional level are not members of TMC, then the chapter may submit another project for that category as long as the contractor is a member of TMC, in good standing by June 1.

Judging Procedures & Criterion

Do you know someone who would give knowledgeable and unbiased critiques of masonry design and craftsmanship? Send TMC your jury recommendations.

The jury panel typically consists of at least four architects and four masonry contractors who have experience in the design and/or construction of both large and small scale developments. Candidates are not eligible to judge if they have a project competing in the current competition. Mason contractors and architects are chosen from across Texas to represent each region and a variety of professional experience/expertise.

A project nomination's identity will be kept confidential during the judging process to prevent any biases that may occur. Each project will be evaluated on a scale of 1 to 10 in five key areas:

- Design (Architects)
- Appropriate use of masonry (Architects)
- Craftsmanship (Contractors)
- Masonry difficulty (Contractors)
- Aesthetic Appeal (Architects & Contractors)

Golden Trowel Award Categories

Below are the ten award categories for which a project can classify for nomination.

Residential (Single Family):

Any residence or dwelling designed for occupation by single families, without restriction to square footage.

Residential (Multifamily):

Any residences or dwelling units designed for occupation by multiple families, i.e. apartments, condominiums, etc.

Government / Institutional:

Commercial buildings that are under the authority of state, city, school or hospital organization. Examples of this would be school administration buildings, churches, hospitals, city or state properties, etc.

Industrial / Commercial:

Structures that are built for the purpose of retail, office, hotel, or warehouse/industrial function.
